New Orleans holdouts reluctant to concede it's time to leave

NEW ORLEANS | More stragglers seemed willing to flee the filthy water and stench of death Thursday as increasingly insistent rescuers made what may be their last peaceful pass through swamped New Orleans before

"Some are finally saying, 'I've had enough," said U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement spokesman Michael Keegan. "They're getting dehydrated. They are running out of food. There are human remains in different houses. The smells mess with your psyche."

Across a flooded city where as many as 10,000 holdouts were believed to be stubbornly staying put, police made it clear in orders barked from front porches and through closed doors that they would return — next time, getting tough.

Police said they were 80 percent done with their scan of the city for voluntary evacuees, after which they planned to begin carrying out Mayor Ray Nagin's order to forcibly remove remaining residents from a city filled with disease-carrying water, broken gas lines and rotting corpses.

The near-conclusion of the voluntary evacuation came as receding floodwaters revealed still more rotting corpses. Nagin has said the death toll in New Orleans alone could reach 10,000, and state officials were ordering 25,000 body bags.

Volunteer rescuer Gregg Silverman, part of a contingent from Columbus, Ohio, said he expected to find many more survivors in his excursion through the city's flooded streets. Instead, he found mostly bodies. DON BABWIN (AP)

Residents of Darwin, Australia, got a little something extra from a cash machine that had been mistakenly stocked with $50s instead of

A Gruesome Task on an Epic Scale

25,000 body bags are on hand as La. begins searching for the dead

NEW ORLEANS | With the waters receding, New Orleans faces a ghastly task of epic dimensions not seen by an American city in perhaps a century: collecting, identifying and then burying potentially thousands of corpses, many of them bloated, decayed or mangled beyond recognition.

Already, officials said they have 25,000 body bags on hand in Louisiana, and a temporary warehouse morgue is being readied to handle 5,000 dead.

The challenge, though, is more than a question of space and equipment.

Among other things: How do you establish the victims' names, especially when many of them were Recovery crews prepare to remove bodies from a building in St. Bernard Parish, just east of New Orleans. Officials have moved 25,000 body bags into the area.

so poor they probably did not even have dental records? And how do you return the dead to their relatives when no one knows where the family members are?

In the confusing tangle of federal, state and local workers here, a preliminary plan has emerged to deal with the bodies.

"The mayor is very strong on the fact that you handle the remains with dignity and respect, especially considering the celebration of life that we have in New Orleans," said Sally Forman, a spokeswoman for Mayor C. Ray Nagin.

At two collection sites — one at the junction of Interstates 10 and 610 in New Orleans and one in neighboring St. Bernard Parish federal mortuary teams collect any information that may help identify a body, including the coordinates of where each corpse was found. ERIN MCCLAM (AP)

Some were overcome by the heat and taken away by ambulance. Police were called in for crowd control, A Coast Guard official called it a "very dynamic situation."

→ INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE:

The IRS announced a new program Thursday to encourage workers to give up unused vacation time and sick days and turn them into charitable contributions to aid Hurricane Katrina victims. Employers would convert the donated time into cash contributions to charities while workers would reduce their taxable income by the number of days donated.

Congress Passes $51.8B Relief Bill

WASHINGTON | Congress hastened to provide an additional $51.8 billion for relief and recovery from Hurricane Katrina on Thursday, and President Bush pledged to make it "easy and simple as possible" for uncounted, uprooted storm victims to collect food stamps and other government benefits.

The House cleared the large aid measure on a lopsided 411-10 vote. The Senate passed its version of the relief measure Thursday evening.

The overwhelming, bipartisan support for the measure maskedmurmurs of concern about a rapidly rising price tag, as well as a growing atmosphere of political jockeying in Congress less than two weeks after the hurricane battered the Gulf Coast.

House Democratic leader Nancy Pelosi called GOP plans for a committee to examine federal response "a sham that is just the latest example of congressional Republicans being the foxes guarding the president's hen house." She and Senate Democratic leader Harry Reid favor an independent panel like the Sept. 11 Commission. DAVID ESPO (AP)

Cheney Checks Out Storm Damage

NEW ORLEANS | Vice President Dick Cheney toured parts of the ravaged Mississippi and Louisiana coasts Thursday, claiming significant progress but warning that much remains to be done.

He defended the political appointees who are overseeing the federal relief effort against attacks by Democrats. And he suggested that "mental health issues" needed to be addressed across the stricken area, but offered no game plan on that score.

Overall, Cheney issued an optimistic prognosis for recovery, "We'll get it done," he said after touring a devastated Gulfport, Miss.

Cheney then flew to New Orleans by helicopter. (AP)

Victims Claim Benefits

First wave of Katrina's survivors file with unemployment offices

WASHINGTON | An estimated 10,000 workers who lost their jobs because of Hurricane Katrina filed for unemployment benefits last week. the first wave of what is expected to be hundreds of thousands of displaced workers seeking benefits.

The Labor Department said Thursday the 10,000 figure was an estimate of the number of disasterrelated claims based on spot checks with claims offices in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and neighboring states such as Texas that have agreed to accept benefit applications from relocated workers.

Overall, 319,000 newly laid off workers filed for claims last week, a drop of 1,000 from the previous Department analysts said the big-picture figure would have been higher if not for the shutdown of many claims offices in the path of the hurricane.

Higher numbers of claims are expected in the weeks ahead. MARTIN CRUTSINGER (AP)

Report from panel overseeing base cuts delayed by legal fights

WASHINGTON | The base closing commission hit a snag Thursday over the deadline for sending its recommendations to the White House, as the administration lost a last-minute bid to get the Supreme Court to intervene and protect the panel's plan.

Judges in Connecticut and Tennessee blocked the panel from recommending changes at local Air National Guard bases.

The Tennessee decision was overruled by an appeals court Thursday afternoon, but the Connecticut injunction stood.

Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg rejected the Bush administration's request for intervention, although another appeal could be filed later.

Separately, Illinois, Missouri and New Jersey lost Supreme Court appeals intended to stop the commission from sending the report. Facilities in those states are among hundreds targeted by the panel for closure or consolidation. (AP)

KIEV, UKRAINE | President Viktor Yushchenko fired his 7-monthold government Thursday, dismissing his dynamic prime minister — the heroine of the Orange Revolution that swept him to power - and accepting the resignation of one of the movement's top financial backers.

The government breakup, amid allegations of corruption, deepened a crisis that has diminished the popularity of the man whose dioxin poisoning and defiant stand against election fraud seized the world's attention last year.

The dissolution of the government led by charismatic Prime Minister Yulia Tymoshenko and acceptance of tycoon Petro Poroshenko's resignation from the powerful Security and Defense Council come at a dangerous time. Parliamentary elections are six months away, and Yushchenko must win to cement his political gains.

Instead, he could face a strong challenge from Tymoshenko, whose personal style, combining couture with a traditional blond braid ringing her head, made her a highly telegenic symbol last year.

Thursday's dismissals came after Poroshenko and other top presidential aides were accused of corruption by some of their former allies. Yushchenko called the allegations "groundless but very strong," saying they demanded a response. (AP)

Few Details Emerge on Arafat's Death

JERUSALEM | Newly revealed medical records have failed to solve the mystery of Yasser Arafat's death, but they do cast doubt on conspiracy theories such as a poisoning.

But the main question — what led to the massive stroke that killed the longtime Palestinian leader may never be answered.

Arafat, 75, died Nov. 11, 2004, in a French hospital near Paris after a sudden decline in his health.

Two Israeli journalists obtained Arafat's medical records from a senior Palestinian official and turned over the information to The New York Times. One of the journalists then shared the records with The Associated Press, which, like the Times, put the information to medical experts.

French doctors who treated Arafat concluded he died of a "massive brain hemorrhage" after suffering intestinal inflammation, jaundice and a blood condition known as disseminated intravascular coagulation, or DIC.

But the records are inconclusive about what brought about DIC, which has many causes ranging from colitis to liver disease. (AP)

FACT: One out of six people who suffer from allergies do so because of the direct relationship to fungi and bacteria in air duct systems. (Total Health Magazine)

Dust, dirt, pollen, animal dander and other airborne contaminants are pulled into your duct system every tie the furnace or air conditioner runs.

These contaminants build up inside the ductwork over time and can help make your duct system a breeding ground for mold spores, bacteria, fungus, mildew and other microbes

Each time the furnace or air conditioner is turned on, contaminants are spewed out and circulated throughout your home and affect the health and comfort of your family.

Family members who suffer from allergies, asthma or other respiratory ailments as well as children and the elderly are especially vulnerable to the effects of indoor air pollutants.

The removal of contaminants from the entire HVAC system is recognized by industry experts as the most effective way to eliminate air duct pollutants. This is referred to as the "source removal" method of duct cleaning.

In addition to the obvious health benefits, ducts cleaning can help you maintain a cleaner home. It also helps to restore HVAC system capacity and lessen running time, resulting in lower heating and cooling bills.

The HEPA-AIRE method used by our company assures you that your ducts are being cleaned with the most advanced source removal equipment available.

Sweep Nets 200 Militants

Foreign fighters seized by Iraqi army; forces move into Tal Afar

TAL AFAR, IRAQ | A joint U.S.-Iraqi force punched deep into Tal Afar, a key insurgent staging ground near the Syrian border, and the Iraqi army said Thursday it arrested 200 suspected militants in the sweep — three-fourths of them foreign fighters.

Most of the civilian population of 200,000 have now fled this predominantly Turkmen city, where 70 percent of that ethnic group is Sunni Muslim — the sect that dominates the Iraqi insurgency. The U.S. military reported killing seven insurgents over the past two days amid indications the joint force was preparing to intensify the operation.

Police survey the scene after a suicide bomb attack in Baghdad on Thursday.

The sweep in Tal Afar came as election officials tallied figures from three Sunni-dominated provinces, where the voter registration was extended a week in preparation for the Oct. 15 nationwide referendum on the new constitution.

"Turnout was unbelievable and people were very enthusiastic, espe-

Google Adds Web Pioneer to Staff

Hiring coup results in MCI's Vinton Cerf joining online titan

SAN FRANCISCO | Google Inc. has hired Internet pioneer Vinton Cerf to float more ideas and develop new products, adding another weapon to the online search engine leader's rapidly growing arsenal of intellect.

Cerf's defection from MCI Inc., announced Thursday, represents the latest coup for Mountain View-based Google, which has been amassing more brainpower as its payroll nearly quadrupled during the past two years.

Along the way, Google has been raiding other companies, a tactic that has sparked a legal battle with one of its major rivals, software maker Microsoft Corp. The two high-tech titans battled in court this week over Kai Fu-Lee's July resignation from Microsoft to oversee Google's efforts to open a research center in China.

When he starts work at Google on Oct. 3, Cerf's official title will be "chief Internet evangelist," but he is determined to be more than a figurehead or detached visionary.

"What I have done in the past is not going to be important at Google," Cerf said during an interview. "What's important at Google is what you are doing today and what you going to do tomorrow." (AP)

Gas prices fall slightly, but AAA wants mayor to investigate gouging

WASHINGTON | Gas price outrage reached new heights in the nation's capital Thursday.

AAA Mid-Atlantic fired off a letter to Mayor Anthony A. Williams requesting an investigation into what it said was the second-highest gas prices in the nation.

"Consumers have a right to know if someone is taking advantage of them," said auto club spokesman John B. Townsend II wrote.

Although prices fell seven cents from Wednesday, the average $3.31 for a gallon of regular put the District a fraction of a cent behind New York state.

Metro hopes that some commuters might shift their travel to before 7:30 a.m. and after 8:30 a.m. during the morning rush and before 4:30 p.m. and after 5:30 p.m. in the afternoon rush. ## Disaster Plans Reviewed

Wary of slow response to Katrina, area leaders hope to learn lessons

WASHINGTON | Shaken by what they view as a slow federal response to Hurricane Katrina, regional leaders are reviewing their disaster plans in hopes of avoiding a similar fate.

The decision was made in a Thursday conference call involving officials from the District of Columbia and its suburbs. They talked about the storm that devastated much of the Gulf Coast and the lessons that could be learned, Montgomery County Executive Douglas M. Duncan said.

While short on specifics, Duncan said that in the event of a crisis here, state and local governments might have to be relied on more than initially thought for distributing critical supplies and evacuating thousands of residents.

"If we can't count on the feds, if we can't count on a timely response from them, we need to change our plans," Duncan said.

Despite rattled confidence in the aftermath of the hurricane, the region remains well prepared for a disaster, said Thomas J. Lockwood, the Department of Homeland Security official responsible for the Washington area.

Both spoke at a news conference kicking off the "Be Ready, Make a Plan" campaign. The $4.5 million federally funded initiative is aimed at educating residents about what they can do to become self-reliant in an emergency, whether it is a natural disaster or terrorist attack.

D.C. ARMORY SLOWLY EMPTIES OF EVACUEES

In its third day of hosting survivors of Hurricane Katrina, the number of those seeking shelter has fallen to 215 people:

City officials in the District are helping secure transportation for residents who have located loved ones. An additional six families were supposed to leave the D.C. Armory by the end of Thursday. The Federal Emergency Management Agency has already approved $6 million in reimbursements for the city and will likely grant the city funds for expenditures beyond that. Hurricane evacuees had access to free Washington Nationals tickets. (AP)

SKIN-DEEP: Wong Kar Wai is an obsessive stylist, which means his films (including the latest, "2046") are always gorgeous, but sometimes beauty trumps meaning.

In the Mood for More

Wong Kar Wai's sumptuous '2046' is in love — with itself

FILM | If Wong Kar Wai wasn't credited, you'd think "2046" was a parody of a Wong Kar Wai film.

All the writer-director's trademark aesthetic touches are there in this follow-up to the gorgeous "In the Mood for Love" from 2000: the richly textured furnishings, the sumptuous dresses, the flawlessly made-up women. There's flirta-tious bossa nova music. And the rain — always the rain, falling in slow motion and illuminated by a lamp on some dark street where lovers are on the verge of doing something they probably shouldn't.

Wong's rendering of 1960s Hong Kong is so mesmerizing, it almost distracts from the fact that there's little substance to the characters.

An impressive cast of Asian allstars — including Tony Leung, Gong Li, Faye Wong, Maggie Cheung and a captivating Zhang Ziyi — appears in the past and future in fragmented depictions of futile, ill-timed love.

Leung reprises his role from "In the Mood for Love" as Mr. Chow. The film follows his involvement with various women he meets while living at a hotel — the rotating inhabitants of room 2046.

Of all the women with whom Chow dallies, Zhang emerges the most powerfully. She's all grown up, heart-stoppingly beautiful, with a startling command of the screen.

Wong makes no apologies for this man and feels no need to thrust redemption upon him. Leung plays this serial womanizer in a cynical, world-weary fashion of the reluctant heroes of film noir.

Chow uses his real-life experiences as inspiration for his writing. The people who populate room 2046 show up in "2046," his futuristic novel about a high-speed train that goes nowhere, carrying a few passengers and android servants.

The audience goes nowhere as well. After all, one can only be in the mood for love for so long.

'Man' Without Qualities

Two greats waste talent in a dumb comedy

FILM | "The Man" is keeping us down.

Samuel L. Jackson and Eugene Levy are forced to endure not one but two lengthy flatulence jokes, one of which involves an elevator full of nuns.

The two must team up when Levy's character is mistaken for Jackson's tough-guyundercover federal agent during a stolen weapons deal with generic European baddies. Each actor is relegated to a one-note role in a movie that strains desperately for laughs.

Levy's Andy Fiddler, a married father of three from suburban Wisconsin, travels to Detroit to speak at a convention. Meanwhile, Vann is investigating a stolen weap-Levy's Fiddler is definitely not da man.

But think: What if director Les Mayfield had played the same story as serious drama? What if Fiddler had a job that was less nerdy and Vann were mired in real moral decay? What if they drove around the city in severe danger, with no one adventure to the next?

Anything would have been better than the way "The Man" ultimately turned out; veteran talents like these deserve better.

THE DEVIL MADE ME DO IT: Jennifer Carpenter channels the forces of evil as the unfortunate possession-target Emily Rose.

Hell Is Other Screenplays

Tedious 'Exorcism of Emily Rose' must be cast out of theaters

FILM | It may aspire to be a highbrow horror movie, but "The Exorcism of Emily Rose" is more like a two-hour, sweeps-period "Law & Order" episode, complete with special guest stars and a shocking story ripped from the headlines.

Director Scott Derrickson is all business in telling the story of a Catholic priest on trial for negligent homicide following the death of a "possessed" 19-year-old on whom he'd performed an exorcism.

Sounds juicy, gory, potentially cheesy, right? It even could have been ironic and knowing.

But you'll find only a cavalcade of Oscar nominees (Tom Wilkinson, Laura Linney, Shohreh Aghdashloo) going about their work very, very seriously.

Told in flashback, the possession and exorcism of Emily Rose (Jennifer Carpenter) can be, at times, truly startling. The college freshman experiences disturbing paranoid hallucinations, contorts her body in impossible ways and screeches and snarls in subtitled Aramaic.

But presumably the film is called "The Exorcism of Emily Rose" because that sounds more exciting than "The Trial of Father Moore," though that's actually what it is: a workmanlike courtroom drama.

Father Moore truly believes he was doing the right thing and insists on taking the witness stand to enlighten the world. He also tries to warn Erin, an agnostic who naturally will have a change of heart about the nature of faith, that she is in danger, as well.

"There are forces surrounding this trial — dark, powerful forces," Wilkinson manages to say with a straight face.

Whether you walk out of "Emily Rose" feeling truly creeped out will depend on how you felt about the possibility of satanic possession walking into it. CHRISTY LEMIRE (AP)

SATURDAY

Tonight H2O's "SOULFOOD SATURDAY" proves truly good for the soul. Join Howard and Hampton Universities' alumni for a reunion bash and fund-raiser for the Bush-Clinton Katrina Relief fund. And as Allen Iverson is hosting, attendance at either of these institutions is not a requisite.

Before the Future of Music

Coalition gets down to the nitty gritty at the three-day policy summit beginning Sunday, spend some time with the Mekons' JONLANGFORD performing the Executioner's Last Songs with SALLY TIMMS, SHIP AND PILOT and VJ BARRY MILLS at Iota.

Where else but the Silver Spring Jazz Festival can one see renowned trumpeter WYNTON MARSALIS for the low, low price of free? He's joined by vocalist CAROLE SLOANE, harmonica-savvy FREDERIC YONNET, pianist MARCUS JOHNSON and saxophonist RON HOLLOWAY. The show is a tribute to the late Keter Betts, and the Red Cross has been invited to collect funds for the ongoing relief in Marsalis' hometown of New Orleans.

And because our intuition tells us you like to keep it jazzy as well as inexpensive, we figured the Rosslyn Jazz Festival at Gateway Park. NNENNA FREELON, JAMES MOODY and AHMAD JAMAL will all be on hand to swing for free.

The Black Family Reunion Celebration on the National Mall has many a thing to do, but you be sure not to miss the musical performances of R&B diva CHAKA KHAN and the smooth go-go grooves of LISSEN BAND.

Entertainment Weekend

THE ARISTOCRATS (Unrated, 87 minutes) The joke whose punch line lends this documentary its title isn't especially funny. Filthy, yes, but not a laugh riot, except in the way its structure lends itself to extended riffs of jazz-like improvisation on the part of the 100 or so comedians who line up to tell it. What makes us laugh is the joke's sheer excess. Far more fascinating, however, than its many tellings and retellings, is the footage of comics talking about the joke, which has been a staple of backstage banter between comedians since vaudeville. (MO)

BROKEN FLOWERS (R, 106 minutes) Bill Murray is a charm as Don Johnston, who learns from a mysterious letter that one of his liaisons, 20 years earlier, produced a son. So he takes a road trip to look up some old flames, including Sharon Stone. Frances Conroy and Jessica Lange. Murray's enigmatic expressions suggest a hangdog Mona Lisa, who's as much a mystery as his quest. What's going on in there? His deadpan is the lure. Take this trip with him and chances are, you'll find the journey increasingly funny and touching. (DT)

THE BROTHERS GRIMM (PG-13, 118 minutes) More enchanted than enchanting, filmmaker Terry Gilliam's adventure reimagines real-life brothers Wilhelm and Jakob Grimm not as the doughty German folklorists they were, but as British-accented con men (Matt Damon and Heath Ledger) who make money by pretending to "exorcise" barns of nonexistent witches, goblins and sprites. When they stumble upon a village whose children seem to have been abducted by a malevolent — and very real — bogeyman, their patience is sorely tested. Unfortunately, so is ours: A story that is supposed to be all about the power of storytelling is really only about itself. (MO)

ARE WE THERE YET? Jason Statham literally flies to safety out of a jet that's crashlanded in the ocean in one of the more realistic scenes from "Transporter 2."

THE CAVE (PG-13, 97 minutes) When an underground cave filled with water is discovered in Romania, a team of hotshot cave divers is brought in to explore it. One by one, they are eaten by some salivating thingie you can barely see, but which looks a little too much like the creature from the "Alien" movies. Soon, very few will be left besides Cole Hauser, Lena Headev, Eddie Cibrian and Morris Chestnut (plus the three or four people in the audience who are still awake), (мо)

CHARLIE AND THE CHOCOLATE FACTORY

(PG, 115 minutes) Johnny Depp's oddball eccentricity as Willy Wonka is an unsettling amalgam of Michael Jackson, Edward Scissorhands and Lisa Kudrow's Phoebe from "Friends." But there are other watchable delights: Wonka's factory is a wonderland of chocolate lakes and candy-grass banks. There are some hilarious routines performed by the diminutive Oompa Loompas. And Freddie Highmore is a charmer as Charlie, the poor kid who wins a ticket to tour Wonka's factory. (рт)

THE CONSTANT GARDENER (R, 123 minutes) Vivid performances drive Brazilian director Fernando Meirelles' fine adaptation of the John Le Carre novel. Justin Quayle (Ralph Fiennes), a mild-mannered junior diplomat in Kenya, is shattered when his wife, Tessa (Rachel Weisz), is violently murdered on a "research trip" far up country. He learns quickly enough that Tessa had acquired a "reputation" in the tight world of British diplomacy. The movie chronicles Justin's growth as he begins to understand what sort of a woman he had married. The quick evocations of diplomatic life, corporate dealings and even the world of anonymous travel off-passport are splendidly done. (STEPHEN HUNTER)

THE DUKES OF HAZZARD (PG-13, 106 minutes) There's a lot of armchair outlaws out there who fondly remember that long-running Friday-night TV show with Bo, Duke and Daisy and that '69 orange Dodge Charger, the General Lee. This movie, starring Seann William Scott as Bo and Johnny Knoxville as Luke, is smart enough not to mess with a good thing. "Dukes" is more charmingly lowbrow than screamingly funny, and it doesn't seem the slightest bit interested in straying from the formula of screeching cars, barroom brawls and other southern clichés. based Western-without-cowboyhats pits four thuggish adopted brothers (Mark Wahlberg, Tyrese Gibson, Garrett Hedlund and Andre Benjamin of OutKast) against the gangsters who had their saintly mother killed. It's a diverting enough thriller, but one that ultimately doesn't expect — or even want — its audience to participate in it, except as a passenger. (MO)

THE 40-YEAR-OLD VIRGIN (R, 111 minutes) Filthy, funny and sweet in equal measure, the feature directorial debut of "Freaks and Geeks" writer-producer Judd Apatow is a Rob Schneider movie with the soul of a chick flick.

That's not actually fair. While it's true that the comedy — revolving around the efforts of three friends (Paul Rudd, Romany Malco and Seth Rogen) to get their geeky nice-guy co-worker (Steve Carell) deflowered — has a lot of smutty humor, it's also pretty smart. In the end, the organ it's really all about exercising is the human heart. (мо)

FUNNY HA HA (Unrated, 89 minutes) Kate Dollenmayer makes one of the year's splashiest un-splashy debuts, delivering a spot-on portrayal of a sweetly hangdog heroine named Marnie navigating postgraduate life. While she parties with her college friends, loses jobs, vows to quit partying and contemplates whether to get a tattoo, she secretly pines for Alex (Christian Rudder), a cocky computer programmer who has a talent for leading her on even when he's rejecting her. Writer-director Andrew Bujalski directs with a loose, improvisatory vibe, lending the fictional film the credence of cinema verite. (ANN HORNADAY)

GRIZZLY MAN (R, 103 minutes) Filmmaker Werner Herzog's documentary it takes us into both the heart of Alaska and the soul of author, wildlife activist, surfer and failed TV actor Timothy Treadwell, who in 2003 was killed and eaten by one of the grizzly bears whose preservation he championed. It's an extraordinarily moving portrait of a strange man, but by gazing at the seemingly distant horizon that is Treadwell's life, we are brought disconcertingly closer to our own. (DT)

A SANDY RETREAT: Ralph Fiennes and Pete Postlethwaite find life in Africa more complicated — and dangerous — than anticipated in "The Constant Gardener."

HUSTLE & FLOW (R, 114 minutes) In Craig Brewer's charming, gritty hip-hop fairy-tale, DJay (Terrence Howard) is a Memphis pimp heading nowhere slow, who dreams of making the music big time. With the help of an old buddy and sound engineer (Anthony Anderson) and a scrawny white musician (DJ Qualls), DJay makes his new song, "Whup That Trick," take foot-stomping shape. He even gets his hookers, bottle-blonde Nola (Taryn Manning) and Shug (Taraji P. Henson), involved and liberates them in the process. His story is so affecting, it threatens to make crossover audiences sing out: "You know, it's hard out here for a pimp." (DT)

JUNEBUG (R, 112 minutes) When George (Alessandro Nivola), a Southern transplant to Chicago, brings Madeleine (Embeth Davidtz), his Japanese-born, British-accented new bride, back to his family's North Carolina home for a visit, you'd expect a culture clash. What you might not expect is a story that turns gradually from the hilarious to the profoundly moving. At the center of first-time director Phil Morrison's wonderful little fish-out-of-water tale is not Madeleine, but her pregnant sister-in-law, Ashley (Amy Adams), whose humor, simple wisdom and ability to be comfortable in her own skin are the family's, and the film's, heart and soul. emperor penguins, whose procreation quest takes them on an incredible journey on the frozen continent, where on a good day, the temperature is 58 degrees below zero. The film is full of wonderful moments and spectacles, including thousands of penguins huddled en masse, nursing their eggs. The wind moans and peppers them with snow. But they hold on to those eggs, which would crack and kill the baby inside if they touch the ground. (pt)

MURDERBALL (R, 86 minutes) This isn't just the best smash-mouth rugby documentary featuring muscular dudes in wheelchairs ever made, it's also a powerful film by any standard. Four players per team, most of whom suffered injuries to the spine or neck, roll around and throw a ball around. We watch likable Mark Zupan and his national teammates take on the world's best, including Canada coached by arch rival Joe Soares. "Murderball" isn't just about sports. It's an emotional visit with some determined young men (and one middle-aged guy) who refuse to accept limitations in every aspect of their lives. (DT)

PRETTY PERSUASION (Unrated, 149 minutes) is neither pretty nor persuasive. Populated by characters that are either over-the-top cartoonish or drawn with all the depth of stick figures, there is only one reason to watch this latest entry in the high-school-as-Dante's-inferno genre - Evan Rachel Wood. Wood is intriguing as Kimberly Joyce, the ultrabright, Machiavellian high-school sophomore who manipulates everyone around her to achieve her twin goals of fame and revenge. The movie tries hard to be shock-

RED EYE (PG-13, 85 minutes) Filmmaker Wes Craven's airplane-set thriller about a traveler (Rachel McAdams) held hostage by a smooth-talking criminal (Cillian Murphy) is a taut and supple entertainment, especially when it has nowhere to go but inside the characters' heads. Although it doesn't exactly fall apart in the film's final reel, when the action leaves the plane's cabin for the larger world, it does lose some of the pressure-cooker intensity of the film's first hour. (MO)

SEQUINS (Unrated, 88 minutes) In Eleonore Faucher's debut film, still waters run silent and deep inside Claire (Lola Naymark), a 17-year-old who plucks cabbages from her parents' patch and secretly trades them for rabbit hides to use for sequined embroidery, her private passion. SKY HIGH (PG, 99 minutes) "Sky High" is a slight but sure-footed, live-action comic fantasy from Disney. Director Mike Mitchell deftly blends two genres — the high school romance and the specialeffects-laden superhero comic book adaptation — and manages to spoof yet salute both with a refreshing lack of pretension. (JANE HORWITZ)

A SOUND OF THUNDER (PG-13, 102 minutes) A fanciful expedition has calamitous consequences in this sci-fi thriller based on a Ray Bradbury short story, in which a scientist in 2055 (Edward Burns) studies evolution by leading time-travel "iumps" to a world of 65-million years ago. The highlight of the trip, for its participants, is the chance to shoot a dinosaur, until an error on one jump causes changes in evolution that fill the modern world with dinosaur-baboon hybrids. Disjointed, confusing, yet modestly entertaining in a comic-bookish way. (JANE HORWITZ)

MY SO-CALLED REAL LIFE: Writer-director Andrew Bujalski helmed "Funny Ha Ha," a loose-limbed but sure-footed look at post-collegiate ambivalence.

TRANSPORTER 2 (PG-13 88 minutes) In this lollipop for unsocialized teen males, the lean, crisp Jason Statham reprises his role as Frank Martin, ex-Special Forces, now a specialized "driver" who guaran(Matthew Modine) to and from school in Miami. The boy is kidnapped as the fulcrum in a plot against his daddy, and Frank decides to get him back. The fights are all fun, and the scissors nips and slashes Hong Kong fight choreographer Corey Yuen has mapped out look fast and deadly. It's over the top, but not a bad piece of candy. (STEPHEN HUNTER)

TROPICAL MALADY (Unrated, 120 minutes) Thai filmmaker Apichatpong Weerasethakul pulls you into an otherworldly, enchanting garden of sensuality and mythology, while portraying Thailand's connections to the mystical past and tacky present. Split into two distinct chapters, the strange modern fable starts out as the evolving romance between two Thai men - Keng (Banlop Lomnoi), a forest patrol soldier, and Tong (Sakda Kaewbuadee), a farmer — but evolves into something deeper: a film about the atavistic wildness within neonle (nt)

UNDERCLASSMAN (PG-13, 95 minutes) Baby-faced but streetwise officer (Nick Cannon) goes undercover at a posh prep school, ostensibly to sniff out nefarious activities. All sorts of complications ensue when said cop starts to bond with his high school brethren. "Underclassman" has cliches to spare, but it also has Cannon, who produced the film. He has that indefinable "It" factor that, for a certain segment of the audience, is worth the price of admission. (TERESA WILTZ)

VALIANT (G, 76 minutes) This World War II-set animated adventure about a plucky carrier pigeon (voice of Ewan McGregor) is proof that it isn't easy to make movies that appeal both to kids and their parents. Too reliant on a knowledge of Nazi history for children, and too short and tepid for the grown-ups who will get the references to old war movies, the movie attempts to be a double agent, but hasn't figured out who it wants to work for. (MO)

WAR OF THE WORLDS (PG-13, 118) Starring Tom Cruise as a divorced father trying to protect his children (Dakota Fanning and Justin Chatwin) from annihilation by ruthless visitors from outer space, this "War of the Worlds" spends a considerable amount of time exploring the interior life of one man, but not at the expense of the film's profound, sustained thrills. It's a rip-roaring popcorn flick with a heart (MO)

WEDDING CRASHERS (R, 119 minutes) Jeremy (Vince Vaughn) and John (Owen Wilson) are scoundrels who crash weddings so they can score with women, in this often-funny caper. But when they attend a big-time Washington wedding party for the daughter of Secretary of the Treasury William Cleary (Christopher Walken), things change: They each fall for one of the Cleary daughters (Isla Fisher and Rachel McAdams). Vaughn is definitely the best man in this wedding comedy. He's a cad and a half who can motormouth like a machine gun. (рт)

'Fatal' Still Attracts

18 years on, the controversial drama has people talking

DEBUT | The new series "Movies That Shook the World" (10 p.m., AMC) looks at popular films that touched a nerve with the public and generated debate or controversy in ways that transcended mere entertainment. The series kicks off with the 1987 thriller "Fatal Attraction."

The discussion of this movie reminds us of the era's tense sexual politics and the ongoing debate about a woman's place in the world. Stars Michael Douglas and Glenn Close, producer Sherry Lansing and director Adrian Lyne all recall a film that begins with a casual affair but ends, as one observer describes it, "like a Hitchcock movie on crack."

The fact that Close's character, a single, professional and sexually aggressive woman, was depicted as a bunny-boiling psychopath annoved many feminists, as well as women who were merely trying to juggle work, marriage and family life. Married men and women joked about the film as a cautionary tale. Others felt that its blunt message — that sex equaled death — was a brutal metaphor for AIDS.

In the end, both Lansing and conservative film critic Michael Medved see "Fatal" as a deeply moral movie that claimed there is no such thing as casual sex.

Future "Movies That Shook the World" segments will discuss "Birth of a Nation," "Do the Right Thing," "The China Syndrome," "The Graduate" "American Graffiti," "The Last Temptation of Christ," "The Exorcist" and "2001: A Space Odvssey," KEVIN MCDONOUGH (UNITED FEATURE SYNDICATE)

Television

THE JAILHOUSE ROCKS: If the first week of September was any indication, fall is going to be all about the drama. Fox's new series "Prison Break," starring Wentworth Miller, riveted viewers in the 18-49 demographic segment for its two-hour debut.

ON TV THIS WEEKEND

XENA. WARRIOR JOURNALIST

Lucy Lawless guest stars on BATTLESTAR GALACTICA (Fri., 10 p.m., Sci Fi) as a reporter sent to document life aboard the ship. The "Xena" star recently appeared in "Locusts," a CBS movie in which she played a fetching undersecretary of Agriculture out to save America from a ravenous bug attack. She will reprise her undersecretary role in the TV follow-up "Vampire Bats," to air Oct. 30 on CBS.

POST-SUMMER CAMP

Bruce Campbell movies are hard to resist. This weekend, the star of the "Evil Dead" trilogy and "Bubba Ho-Tep" appears in MAN WITH THE SCREAMING BRAIN (Sat., 9 p.m., Sci Fi). He portrays the brash CEO of an American drug company who arrives in a dusty Bulgarian city and immediately begins to throw his weight around.

It takes no time for the hotshot to get his comeuppance. His petulant blond trophy wife runs off with a Russian cabdriver and a gypsy woman robs him. Before long, he's mugged, left for dead, and subject to a brain transplant experiment conducted by a deranged researcher (Stacy Keach) with a drinking problem and a strong sense of nostalgia for the good old days of Soviet science.

HEAD RUSH: Campbell discovers that two brains aren't better than one.

Saddled with two brains, one corporate and one communist, Campbell's character has to get the Eastern and Western sides of his noggin to agree how to walk, talk and drive through the madcap traffic of a crumbling Eastern European city.

THAT SHOULD FIX IT

A multi-network fund-raiser for victims of Hurricane Katrina on SHELTER FROM THE STORM: ACONCERT FOR THE GULF COAST (Fri., 8 p.m., CBS, NBC, ABC, Fox, WB, UPN and TBS).

SO ... SLEEPY

A psychologist (George Clooney) investigates strange behavior at a space station in the 2002 sci-fi drama Solaris (8 p.m., AMC), a remake of a 1972 Soviet film.

HEROES ON BOARD

Kiefer Sutherland narrates THE FLIGHT THATFOUGHT BACK(Sun., 9p.m., Discovery)

a moment-by-moment chronology of the hijacking of Flight 93 on Sept. 11, 2001, and the passengers' efforts to resist the terrorists. "Flight" is often too compelling to resist and too heartbreaking to endure.

BROOKE I, TOM O

TRUE HOLLYWOOD STORY (Sun., 8 p.m., E!) profiles Brooke Shields and updates her story to include Shields' public bout with Tom Cruise. Columnist Michael Musto sums up her enduring appeal: "She's maybe the last of a dying breed, a really old-fashioned, gracious star who everybody's rooting for, because she's never done harm to anyone."

FOX REVERTS TO FORM

It's unfair to dislike a sitcom on sight. But in the case of THE WAR AT HOME (Sun., 8:30 p.m., Fox), I'll make an exception. Michael Rappaport stars as Dave, a harried dad married to Vicky (Anita Barone), a working mother who shares her husband's disdain for sensitive "parenting." Every five seconds, Dave faces the camera and comments on the show's flimsy plot. Then the kids get in on the act. Soon there's more commentary than actual plot. KEVIN MCDONOUGH (UNITED FEATURE SYNDICATE)

GALL IN THE FAMILY: Rappaport and Barone wage "The War at Home."

- → FOR KICKS: Can D.C. United avenge its U.S. Open Cup loss to FC Dallas on Saturday night (8:30 p.m. on Comcast)?

Running Start

Redskins turn to Portis for big plays to begin year

REDSKINS | It was the best start imaginable.

Clinton Portis took his first handoff in a Washington uniform and dashed through a gaping hole for a 64-yard touchdown. It was the signature play of last season's home-opener, a 16-10 victory over Tampa Bay that marked Joe Gibbs' return to coaching.

Fifteen games and 10 losses later, Portis had enough of Gibbs' offense. The tailback criticized the Redskins' brass for trying to pound the ball down other teams' throats instead of taking advantage of his speed and the offensive line's athleticism.

Now we'll see if he was right.

The Redskins have been talking all preseason about opening up what was the league's second-worst scoring offense in 2004. And while the counter trey won't be scrapped, all signs point to Portis getting more chances to bounce outside the tackles.

"You know what you're going to get with Clinton," center Casey Rabach said. "Every time he touches the ball it seems like it could be a home run."

Home runs were rare for Portis last season. He averaged a career-low 3.8 yards per carry, had just five runs of 20 yards or more and scored only four rushing touchdowns after posting 29 in the previous two seasons with the Broncos.

THREE BURNING QUESTIONS

CAN KYLE COME THROUGH? With Bears QB Rex Grossman hurt, rookie Kyle Orton faces the Redskins' defense and 90,000 fans.

what will Lavar Do? The linebacker, returning from a knee injury that sidelined him last year, has been coy on his role Sunday.

SPECIAL TEAMS SURPRISE? Don't forget Antonio Brown. A big kick or punt return could make the difference in a tight game.

Such is life as your team's only legitimate offensive threat. But the addition of David Patten and Santana Moss gives Washington more bigplaymakers. And — assuming the Redskins get production from the quarterback position — that should give Portis some breathing room.

"Any time you're passing the ball downfield well, the running game is going to open up as well," tackle Chris Samuels said.

Gibbs praised Portis for becoming one of the team's leaders in the offseason, coming in during voluntary camps and working hard.

That could pay dividends Sunday, when Washington hosts Chicago in the season opener. A sore elbow kept the tailback on the sidelines most of the preseason, but Portis had his best game of 2004 against the Bears, rushing 36 times for 171 yards in a 13-10 victory.

"You couldn't have told me after that first play that I wasn't going to have 2,000 yards," Portis told the Associated Press. "If I don't become a home run hitter, I'm going to get the 5s and the 4s and let them pile up. Somehow, someway, we'll them pile up. Somenow, someway, we libe a 1,500-yard rusher." ERIC BRANDNER

FAME | Was There Any Doubt? Yao Ming topped Forbes Magazine's list of Chinese celebrities, again. The Houston Rockets' star signed a five-year, $75 million contract last week and earned the ranking for the second straight year, the magazine's Chinese version reported on its Web site. Forbes put Yao's 2004 income at $18.5 million, about 25 percent higher than last year. Second on the list was "Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon" actress Zhang Ziyi, followed by Olympic gold medal winning sprinter Liu Xiang. (AP)

National Title On The Line?

COLLEGE PICKS | No. 2 Texas against No. 4 Ohio State is a game with massive national title implications. Right? Well, probably.

While the winner will be able to lay claim to the title of best team east of Los Angeles, the loser — unless they get blown out — isn't out of the race for the Rose Bowl. And as recently as two years ago, two teams with one loss played in the Bowl Championship Series title game (LSU and Oklahoma) and USC, also with a loss, shared the national championship with the Tigers.

The Picks:

- → No. 2 TEXAS (plus 1) at No. 4 OHIO STATE. The team with the most balanced offense wins. OHIO STATE 27-21.
- → No. 20 NOTRE DAME (plus 7) at No. 3 MICHIGAN. The Irish haven't won at Michigan since 1993. MICHIGAN
- → No. 5 LSU (minus 1) at No. 15

  ARIZONA ST. Tigers rise in impromptu road game. LSU 30-20.
- → No. 7 VIRGINIA TECH (minus 20) at DUKE. Little Vick's first stat padder. VIRGINIA TECH 41-14.

Sam the Man

Hollenbach becomes a big man on campus after opening victory

TERPS FOOTBALL | Walking across campus, going to class, Sam Hollenbach already has noticed the difference.

It's not like a year ago, when he could navigate College Park in relative anonymity.

By the time the second week of classes rolled around this week, most everyone knew who he was. He's Maryland's starting quarterback, the guy that led two fourth-quarter scoring drives and threw the game-winning touchdown pass with just 61 seconds to go against Navy in the season opener. He's the guy whose shoulders bear the hopes of so many Terrapins fans. But he says he can't let it get to him.

"I really want to guard against trying to change my daily routine, my lifestyle," the junior says. "But it definitely is different."

The semester has just begun, but Hollenbach is getting high marks from his coaches and teammates. Last week may have been a pop quiz. A tougher test comes Saturday when Maryland hosts No. 25 Clemson in an Atlantic Division game under the Atlantic Coast Conference's realigned format.

Coach Ralph Friedgen has said he admires Hollenbach's perseverance, dating back to the quarterback's climb from fourth string to starter. But Hollenbach's perseverance was tested again > Saturday against Navy. He threw two interceptions and the offense struggled early.

With Navy leading 20-16 late in the fourth quarter, Hollenbach knew he'd have one final chance. When the time came, he made good, finding a narrow seam to shoot the ball to receiver Drew Weatherly between four defenders for the gamewinning touchdown.

Though only the first game, it was the type of performance under pressure that eluded the Terps during last year's 5-6 campaign.

"We know that we can win together," he said. DEREK TURNER

THREE BURNING QUESTIONS

second To None? Featuring three new starters, the Terps' secondary held Navy to just 97 yards last Saturday.

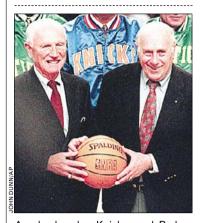

WHO WILL WIN BATTLE OF BULGES?
Clemson's offensive line outweighs
Maryland's defensive line by an average of 47 lbs.

Maryland's detensive line by an average of 4 / lbs.

IS IT PAYBACK TIME? Tailback Reggie Merriweather's touchdown with 23 seconds left gave Clemson a 10-7 win last year, making the Terrapins one victory shy of being bowl eligible.

Coaching Legend Auerbach Hospitalized in Washington

Red Auerbach, the president and former coach of the Boston Celtics, has been hospitalized in Washington with an undisclosed health problem. The 87-year-old coaching great has been in and out of the hospital the past month for tests and a successful surgical procedure, Celtics spokesman Jeff Twiss said Thursday. Twiss said Auerbach was readmitted for an unspecified problem within the last 10 days. (AP)

Taylor Trial Pushed Back

A judge has delayed the trial of Washington Redskins safety Sean Taylor on aggravated assault charges until Oct. 24. The trial had been scheduled to begin Monday. Prosecutors say Taylor pointed a gun at someone during the dispute over an all-terrain vehicle and he is charged with aggravated assault with a firearm and simple battery. (AP)

D.C. Seeks Footing

United clings to final playoff spot heading into match vs. Dallas

UNITED | On-field disciplinary problems, last-second defensive breakdowns and a little bad luck have sunk D.C. United to fourth place in MLS' Eastern Conference.

United (12-9-5) has six games remaining in which to strengthen its grip on that fourth and final playoff spot, which it holds by seven points over the New York/New Jersey MetroStars. The teams play each other twice in the final two weeks of the regular season.

The good news is that United already has eclipsed its regularseason win total from 2004, but the team is struggling as it heads into the home stretch. D.C. was able to claim the MLS Cup thanks to an 8-1-1 run that began a year ago this weekend with a victory over Dallas — the same team it will face this Saturday in Texas. United will need to recapture some of that form if it's to contend for the title again.

FC Dallas (10-8-6) has problems of its own, having not won a league game since June, but its playoff position is safe. Meantime, United will have to play without veterans Jaime Moreno and Ben Olsen, who are suspended. But Santino Quaranta, who has missed the past two games while with the U.S. national team, will be available. BRIAN STRAUS so you made a few ill-advised trades because you were bored while waiting for the season to start. And you lost out when your players got preseason benched and someone else who sits on ESPN all day beat you to the waiver-wire punch for the replacements. But, alas, stress about it no more, because the season is here, and the real strategizing starts now.

Don't Jump on Steelers' Bus

One tip for nabbing the no-name breakout-season guy: Know where your computer is during the games. If you hear a superstar goes down, act first and think later when logging on to snatch his backup.

Also, don't do anything dumb because of the first game. If Peyton Manning tosses a few picks against the Ravens, don't trade him for Bobby Engram.

With those tips in mind, here are a few players in Week 1 to keep an eye on:

Steelers running back Jerome Bettis is running on his last legs at this point.

ROOKIE RELIANCE:

RONNIE BROWN, RB, DOLPHINS. A couple big plays and the Fish be doing everything they can to get it out of Gus Frerotte's hands as quick as possible.

J.J. ARRINGTON, RB, CARDINALS. They're saying he'll share time, but as an elite, invite-only member of the Denny Green V.I.P. Club, he'll get as much as it takes for Green to lose his job.

EARLY BUSTS:

JEROME BETTIS, RB, STEELERS. The Bus' tires are low on air.

JEB PUTZIER, TE, BRONCOS. Jeb needs to learn that if he doesn't do his blocking, there won't be any receiving for dessert.

A Fan-Tastic Choice to Make

SO, SPORTS FANS, where will you be on Sunday?

Behind door No. 1 is the Redskins' season opener against the Chicago Bears at FedEx Field at 1 p.m.

Choice No. 2 comes to you from the Redskins old home: RFK Stadium, where the Nationals host the Atlanta Braves in what could be a critical game for their wild card hopes. Game time is also 1 p.m.

Sunday's attendance at RFK will say a lot about D.C. as a baseball town.

We know Redskins fans have already sold out FedEx Field. Danny Snyder couldn't make his team the richest franchise in the NFL without such loyalty.

The big question, however, is how many Nationals fans will pack RFK. There hasn't been a baseball game going head-to-head with the Redskins in Washington in more than 30 years.

Sunday's attendance will say a lot about D.C. as a baseball town.

So far, it's been a superior showing by the nation's capital. A season attendance of more than 2 million before September is nothing to sneeze at.

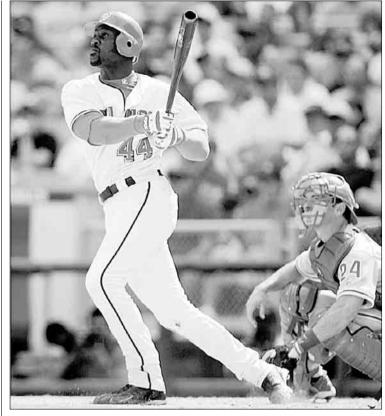

Yet a paltry 24,000 showed for Tuesday's game against the Marlins even though the Nats were only 1.5 games out of the wild card. There's no excuse for that, even if the kids are back in school.

Nobody's expecting a full house with the Redskins in town, but a key game on a Sunday afternoon should draw at least 30,000.

The Redskins will always rule this city, but baseball fans have a chance to prove themselves this weekend.

Are the Nationals just a nice distraction until football season? We'll find out in a few days.

Matt Swenson, a lifelong Washingtonian. is the sports editor of Express.

BATTER UP: Preston Wilson has 21 RBI in his last 24 games playing for the Nationals.

Despite Changes, Wilson Is Steady

Nats outfielder adapts to new surroundings by staying the same

NATIONALS | When center fielder Preston Wilson left Colorado, he left the hitter's paradise of Coors Field for the hitter's hell of RFK. He also left the No. 13 ranked offense in baseball for the last-ranked. Clearly, it was a very new situation.

But that didn't make him do anything new.

"You can't try to change what you do just because things around you change," Wilson said this week. You can't decide to be different or try to be someone else. You have to be confident in what you can do and take the same approach."

The Nationals brought Wilson in mid-season in hopes he could produce some power that was lacking from the lineup. The first stage of his stay, however, was marked more by whiffs than the crack of the bat.

As the playoff race has heated up, however, Wilson has begun to

WILD-CARD HUNT

This week's series against Florida has dampened the Nationals playoff hopes:

- → Houston, 75-64
- → Florida, 74-65 (1 game back)
- → Philadelphia, 73-67 (2.5 back)
- → Washington, 72-68 (3.5 back)

Late game: The Nationals-Marlins game ended after Express' deadline. For results | Today's Post, Sports establish himself as a reliable source of RBI pop: Earlier this week, he had multiple RBI in three out of four games, and has 21 RBI in his last 24 games.

While those numbers may not seem spectacular compared to players on teams with a little more offensive punch, on the Nationals, it's been just enough to keep them competitive for the wild card.

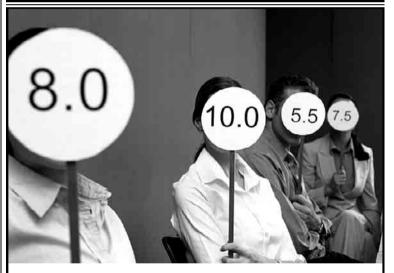

"They wanted me to come in and drive in runs, whether that's a few home runs, or getting a clutch single or double," Wilson said. "It's all the same; you find a way to get it done." Chris Mincher (Express) went up in May, he says.

"You can watch somebody on television chase big animals in exotic places," Raupp says. "Insects provide the same thing."

"They give the average citizen, the average parent and child, a reason to go out and enjoy nature in their backyard," he adds. "They can see all of it: hunting, stalking, predator-prey relationships, evolutionary relationships, the danger of stinging insects. It's an extravaganza."

Raupp is full of anecdotes about the good, bad and ugly of the bug world. Take the elegant praying mantis. The female hooks up with a male partner, and then bites off his head.

Or the six-spotted green tiger beetle, which Raupp featured in his inaugural column. Sure, the beetle has a striking emerald mantle.

AGE OF INSECTS: Mike Raupp turned a childhood hobby into a lifetime obsession.

Passions

U-Md. professor creates a buzz with insights into insects

Professor Mike Raupp is close to his subject of scholarly study. Very close. When a fiercely buzzing bee lands on a flower beside him, he leans over to pet it.

"A sweet bumblebee," he says, stretching out a finger to stroke its fuzzy yellow back.

The bee, fortunately, doesn't seem to mind. Then again, Raupp doesn't have an ordinary mortal's fear of getting stung. He's a fan of spiders. He collects strange beetles. He lets mosquitoes bite him. He considers bumblebees "docile" and likes to play with a scary-looking "assassin bug" on his office desk. Raupp, 53, is not your typical academic at the University of Maryland. He's the "bug guy."

A respected entomologist, with more than 25 years of research to his credit and three major studies under way in his university lab, Raupp has chaired the department, won teaching awards and served on lots of faculty committees. The scientist, though, is better known as a witty raconteur of insect lore.

Ever since last summer's cicada invasion, when he donned a "Brood X" T-shirt and gave almost 100 newspaper, radio and television interviews, Raupp has wowed audiences. He appears regularly on national television networks. This summer, he made the rounds to talk about mosquitoes and ticks; in July, CNN filmed a segment in which he demonstrated how to ward off biting insects with nonchemical repellents.

Eager to popularize his passion, Raupp recently started a "Bug of the Week" column on the university's Web site. The site has seen a tenfold increase in hits since his column But she's a killer, stalking small flies and spiders, and then tearing apart their limbs.

Even the ladybug, so popular with children, can be cruel. The shiny red beetle protects plants by crunching struggling aphids for lunch. Watching it, Raupp says, is not pretty. In fact, it's a good test to see whether a hopeful student has the stomach to be an entomologist. The emergence of millions of loud, red-eyed cicadas last summer turned Raupp into a local authority. He was nicknamed "Dr. Cicada." He awed a "Good Morning America" crew by climbing into a tree to pluck down cicadas and surprised reporters with his facts about Brood X, the biggest clan of periodical cicadas that wriggle above ground every 17 years to mate and then die. Before it was over, he and his colleagues stewed and fried cicadas at a tasting party.

The university and his department have encouraged Raupp to pursue the column and look into publishing a mainstream, instead of scholarly, book on bugs. Raupp has an unusual talent, Mitter says; he has broken out of the usual academic confines to popularize insects and make them better understood.

"Our mission has widened," Mitter says. "Instead of standing on a fence post talking to farmers, he's now on CNN talking to people about the cicada invasion. The public is very interested in the natural world."

Raupp has a sizable government grant to figure out a worrisome outbreak of spider mites, which are defoliating graceful elms and oaks in Chicago, New York's Central Park and Washington, D.C.'s National Arboretum.

Even the University of Maryland campus has lots to keep him busy. In one field, Raupp crouches in a patch of flowering spotted horsemint. Here, surrounded by bumblebees, he's in his element. He spots a skipper butterfly; a Japanese beetle; and a "spider stinger," a flying manof-war that devours spiders.

This is the kind of experience he wants to encourage with his column. By writing about the common and the odd — including fireflies and dog ticks, and the Asian lady beetle — he hopes, he says, to "entice [readers] to take a walk in the meadow." And, of course, scout out some bugs.

For a minute, Raupp is quiet, reflective. But not for long. Soon, he's musing about the ruthless predators of aphids.

Take the lacewing. "They're crazy. They attack anything; they jump on the aphid. There's this big sucking sound, and all the juice comes out."

And the professor is off on another amazing bug story.

Autumn Adventures

Travel

Go leaf-peeping via train, hang-glider or even hot-air balloon

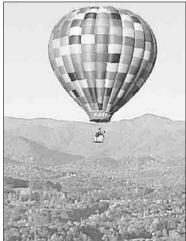

Once upon a time, enjoying fall meant taking a drive down a country road, preferably in the Northeast, to look at the pretty leaves.

But with travelers increasingly interested in unusual experiences and adventures (as opposed to mere vacations), the story of autumn unfolds a little differently these days.

"People are more and more looking at the foliage as a backdrop for other activities, rather than as the main attraction," said Alice DeSouza, New Hampshire's tourism director.

For a bird's-eye view of the foliage, consider a balloon ride or even hang-gliding. Mount Pisgah Adventures (gomountains.net/balloons.html) offers balloon flights over the mountains of Western North Carolina, while Morningside Flight Park (flymorningside.com) of Charlestown, N.H., offers tandem flights in which novices can hang-glide over the trees with an instructor.

LEAF ME ALONE: Golden tamarack abounds in the Rice Lake National Wildlife Refuge; a balloon soars over Mount Pisgah.

Here's a twist on the old drive down a country road: the "ATV Historical Color Tour" (coloradoatvtour.org) in Buena Vista, Colo., a rally and festival for all-terrain vehicle riders scheduled for Sept. 21-24. Participants will enjoy the golden aspens and cottonwoods while exploring old mining sites and ghost towns.

The Appalachian Mountain Club

(outdoors.org) invites hikers in New Hampshire's White Mountains to go on a tree hunt as part of a "citizen science" program called Mountain Watch. Hikers are given maps and field guides to find specific birch, maple and ash trees tagged along family-friendly trails and are then asked to record their observations about foliage color and other data. The information will be used to track any long-term changes in the environment.

Agritourism is booming, and that means that even if you live in a big city, you can find a farm or orchard within a couple hours' drive to pick your own apples or take a hay ride. Kids are notoriously bored by the concept of leaf-peeping, but they will happily navigate a maze of haystacks or cornstalks.

Check the Web site for your state Department of Agriculture or state tourism office to find corn mazes, pick-your-own orchards and fall festivals in your region. Or, for corn mazes, click on the maps at cornfieldmaze.com. For farms open to the public, try pickyourown.org and farmstop.com.

Fall fairs are also held in most parts of the United States. New Hampshire's Keene Pumpkin Festival (pumpkinfestival.com), scheduled for Oct. 22, claims to have the largest number of carved pumpkins of any place in the country. Anybody — including kids — can show up and carve one to add to the display, which included more than 27,000 pumpkins last year.

If you're intrigued by unusual natural phenomena, check out the golden tamarack. Tamaracks are conifers, but unlike evergreens, they shed their needles after turning golden-yellow in the fall. You can see a ring of them on the Twin Lakes inside Rice Lake National Wildlife Refuge (exploreminnesota.com/ attractions/8878.html), near McGregor, Minn., or in the Lolo National Forest in Seeley Lake, Mont. (seelevlakechamber.com). Here the Seelev Lake Giant, 162 feet tall, believed to be the largest tamarack tree in the country, is the centerpiece of the Seeley Lake Tamarack Festival, Sept. 24 and 25.

Scenic railroads are another interesting way to enjoy fall. The Verde Canyon Railroad (verdecanyonrr.com) in Arizona offers a scenic trip through a canyon lined with cottonwood, sycamore, mulberry and oak trees, where you may spot wildlife like elk and javelina. BETH J. HARPAZ (AP)

Once it seemed unlikely that parents would everencourage their daughters to dress like Madonna. But with the release of her 2005 ENGLISH ROSES collection, the Material Girl is more flowers and velvet than leather and lace. The collection (englishrosesc ollection.com) includes shirts for $54 and charm bracelets, which retail for $14-$18. The collection does include some puzzlers, like tea. Kids like tea? K.P.K.

She Brings Out the Best-Dressed in Us All

PEOPLE'S BEST & WORST DRESSED ISSUE is on newsstands today, with Jennifer Aniston front-and-center. But is this just a sympathy vote? "She can wear anything she wants, but she's comfortable in flip-flops and tank tops and that makes her approachable," People's Danielle Dubin told "Today." So ... she dresses like a non-famous person? Katie Holmes also gets some love, for looking both demure and smokin' with Tom Cruise.

Animal Rescue

WAYNE PACELLE, head of the Humane Society of the United States, was online Thursday to discuss pet rescues in the Gulf | washingtonpost.com/liveonline

Why won't FEMA permit boat-based rescue crews in New Orleans to pick up pets as well as people, provided the skipper consents?

We are hoping now that the responders will help us. If we don't get assistance from the Coast Guard, the Navy and others, many animals won't make it. The Post and other papers reported my plea to the federal government to please assist with animal rescue now. given that most of the people have been rescued. What's more, many of the people who are staying are staying because of their pets. They won't abandon them. We can rescue both the people and the animals. and that's the only way disaster relief should be conducted.

I would like to foster an animal. Is there a system in place for that?

The pets who are rescued and not reunited with the owners will be taken by local humane societies and put up for adoption. We already understand that local animal shelters are hearing from community members asking if they can adopt a pet made homeless by Katrina.

The best way to foster a displaced pet is to contact your local animal shelters. You can find contact information for your local animal shelters at pets911.com or petfinder.com.

Could you tell me about your efforts for farm animals, too?

Animals confined on factory farms are particularly vulnerable to disasters. On most egg farms, where chickens are confined in cages so small they can't even spread their wings, if the power goes out or the water is no longer available, literally hundreds of thousands of animals can die within days. The Humane Society is doing everything we can, but many of the impacted factory farms are not allowing anyone on their property. Mississippi is the fourth largest poultry-producing state.

I live in Houston, have an SUV, am willing to take time off to help. What can I do personally to assist?

Please call the Houston SPCA and tell them you are willing to shuttle animals between our staging area in Gonzales and the Houston SPCA. The Houston SPCA is serving as a distribution center for animals.

What about cats? Are you helping them, too?

Yes, we are rescuing a huge number of cats; it seems about 50/50 [dogs/cats] at this point. Many people left their cats with a food bowl and water and assumed they'd be back. The cats that our rescuers are finding are scared, hungry and angry and that makes catching them very hard. But they are still alive, and that's why we'll press on.

Bread Art in Poor Taste

I REALLY THINK "Fresh From the Oven" (Eyeopeners, Sept. 7) is disgusting, not to mention insensitive to some readers. In the wake of Hurricane Katrina, the picture represents what could be expected in the days to follow. I like art, but under the circumstances, I think there should be some limits. This picture looks very similar to a mortician reassembling a body. Did the person(s) responsible for this article consider those who are currently suffering from the loss they incurred during the Hurricane?

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Though some may think you are hard to understand, those close to you know exactly what makes you tick. Stay close to home

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You can handle a lot more than you think. Tap that private resource you have deep within and start fighting back in your own way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) You needn't unveil all your plans too soon; keep something under wraps until just the right moment, Surprise 'em: make 'em wait.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) You'll enjoy a new glimpse of someone you thought you knew well. Your eyes are sure to open to new possibilities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If things get boring, you have no one to blame but yourself. Whether you know it or not, you are firmly in control.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) It's a good day to indulge in a little nostalgia with a loved one. Memories can take you back to your past and clear the haze from your PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) You may be sought out by others by virtue of your patience and honesty, both of which will prove widely valuable.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be in the mood to take your act on the road. A friend or loved one expresses an interest in coming along; don't say "no."

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your outgoing personality, though usually a strength, may actually be getting on someone's nerves. It's time to tone it down.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't take yourself — or others — too seriously. Humor and light-heartedness can work wonders when those around you succumb to stress.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It may prove more difficult than expected to make the headway you have been preparing for over the last few days and weeks.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone has been waiting for an answer from you for some time. Don't hesitate any longer; make a decision and stick with it.

Just like his character on "My Name Is Earl," JASON LEE tries to do good things in real life. "I try to do good things, you know, and good things happen when you keep yourself open like that, definitely,' Lee told reporters. On his new NBC comedy.

Lee plays Earl, a loser who tries to right all the wrong he's done in his life after being hit by a car. Earl calls it karma, a term he heard Carson Daly say on TV. Lee, known for films like "Almost Famous" and "Chasing Amy," said he never considered doing a TV series until now. "I figure, well, I think I've done enough films over the last 10 years." (AP)

BILL RANCIC, winner of the first season of NBC's "The Apprentice," says he'll stop working for Donald Trump when his contract ends in March. "That will probably be it for me," he said Wednesday. He has been overseeing construction of the 90-story Trump International Hotel and Tower in Chicago, a job he won on the show. "I'm gonna go out and start > another business of my own," said the entrepreneur. "That's in my blood." Rancic said he'll leave before Trump's project along the Chicago river is completed. (AP)

Rancic's resume probably won't need much padding.

It's More Readable Than Most of His Stuff

Rolling Stone, the magazine that was home for years to HUNTER S. THOMPSON, will publish a note written days before he committed suicide in February. It reads: "No More Games, No More Bombs, No More Walking. No More Fun. No More Swimming. 67. That is 17 years past 50. 17 more than I needed or wanted. Boring. I am always bitchy. No Fun — for anybody. 67. You are getting Greedy. Act your old age. Relax — This won't hurt." Hunter left the note for his wife, Anita. He shot himself four days later. (AP)

BOBBY BROWN told a judge during a hearing Wednesday that he's up to date with his $5,000 monthly child support payments and contributions to his children's educational fund. However, Norfolk Probate and Family Court Judge Paula Carey admonished the "My Prerogative" singer, calling his earlier excuses "unacceptable." Carey had issued a warrant for Brown's arrest in June after he failed to appear for a compliance hearing. Brown said a stomach virus prevented him from attending that hearing. (AP)
